

June 28, 2002

Akin Statement

“Today’s Supreme Court Decision is a landmark ruling for American education and clears the air when it comes to the question of voucher’s constitutionality. Allowing vouchers or tax credits increases choice for parents when addressing one of their most important responsibilities, the education of their children. Choice and local autonomy is of upmost importance in providing quality education.”